"Time flies on restless pinions—constant never.
Be constant—and thou 'chainest time forever."

Ways and Means Republicans over the protests of the Democrats decide to make the reduction in corporation taxes effective next March. As Seneca and John Garner, of Texas, would say, "he gives twice who gives quickly."

Two bandits and a woman pal in Cleveland do their Christmas shopping early.

The representative group of 297 gentlemen who enjoy a dinner and a discussion of the question of how to get rid of prohibition at the Union League Club decline to permit their names to be made public. What are you ashamed of, boys?

Prohibition sleuth qualifies as an expert taster and gets four drinks on the witness stand, and if the judge had been Ivory G. Kimball, whose dictum used to be that if a man had had one glass of beer he was drunk, he'd probably have got $10 or 30 days.

Let us trust that our neighbors don't retaliate by prohibiting the crossing of the borders of hard-working citizens who live in the United States and do their drinking in Canada and Mexico.

Any number of statesmen have volunteered to lead the children of the corn belt out of the wilderness of hard times into the Land of Promises, but the Senate has only one Moses.

Shoe trade's national style committee announces that the prevailing types for men next spring will be blacks and tans. These sensational innovations are what keep the designers working overtime.

Poor old Hiboy, the only inmate of the Zoo who used the roof of the elephant house for a breakfast table, is dead from osteoarthritis, and we presume that's Greek for tonsilitis.

Woman once the mistress of $12,000,000 and a palace on the Nile winds up in the Hoosier over a little transaction involving $225. The trouble with most people is that they can't stand prosperity.

Lowden's manager claims 348 convention votes up to date, thus stamping himself as the world's leading optimist next to Mr. Doheny.

So many of the newspaper jury that tried and convicted Ruth and Judd have flocked to Mays Landing to take charge of the Lillendahl case that the standing room only sign is out. Now that the trial is about to begin, what's the verdict?

Federal prohibition enforcement agents have decided to spend the winter in Florida. Those birds always manage to follow the swallow.

We submit that the new boulevard to extend from the Union Station to the Peace Monument should be named in honor of one or the other of the two chief avenues in the "Mall Triangle" which for years past haven't had very much to boast of. It's about time that Ohio avenue, or Missouri avenue, blossomed out with a fresh coat of paint.

Senator Borah chooses from his own point of view an unhappy parallel when he drags into the prohibition debate the fugitive slave law, upheld by the Supreme Court and held in contempt by a majority of Americans—who eventually reversed that august body. The Abolitionist and the proprietor of the Underground Railroad were the nullificationists and bootleggers of the Fifties.

Current political events in Europe throw considerable light on what has happened to Poland in the past and why.

The National Constitutional League goes to the rescue of the Michigan man sentenced to the penitentiary for life in that enlightened State for possessing one pint of gin, without proof of sale or attempted sale, in violation of section 7, article 2, of the Constitution. Who are the nullificationists in this case, that would be comic if it were not so tragic?

Cleveland Park citizens who are equipping their homes with those new electric rays that can throw a beam capable of penetrating a London fog a distance of 628 miles seem to proceed on the theory that the Cat loves the dark.

Can this be true, that Senator McNary is a back-slidder, and now proposes the cross-word puzzle as a substitute for the Haugen bill? Just for a handful of voters he left us.

Just for a riband to stick in his coat—

Think how his ambition then has left us.

And left the farm bloc to be the poor goat!

Stayton Discloses Plan at Dinner He Gives in New York.

REFERENDUM PLANKS
ASKED IN PLATFORMS

Wadsworth Announces Candidacy for Delegate, Hoping
G. O. P. Will Meet Issue.

New York, Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Plans for raising $3,000,000 fund to interest voters in national or State referenda on repealing or changing the eighteenth amendment were outlined tonight at a dinner given for 297 persons at the Union League Club by Capt. William H. Stayton, chairman of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

While the dinner was a private affair, to which newspaper men were not admitted, Capt. Stayton told reporters the gist of his plan at his hotel before the dinner began. He said the fund would be used to send letters to 27,000,000 voters in the next four years in a campaign designed to learn the attitude of the people on the question.

Capt. Stayton, in his talk to newspaper men, said that the association would not seek a wet plank in the platforms of either the Republican or Democratic parties in their national conventions. He said he favored the incorporation of a national referendum plank, based on the theory that it was the duty of a political party to find out what the people wanted.

If such a plan cannot be obtained in the national party platforms, he said, the association believes that the State referendum plan should be carried out. The people, he contended, were entitled to be consulted directly before constitutional changes, such as the eighteenth amendment, were put through.

Plans for Coming Year.

The dinner was sponsored by four persons, headed by George B. Wight, New York manufacturer, who, previous to the gathering, said that it was of no public or political significance. The names of the other sponsors were not divulged.

Capt. Stayton said that he had addressed a similar group on the subject about a year ago and that he since had spoken to meetings in half a dozen clubs in New York City. Funds had been raised for carrying on the association's plans, he said, but more money was needed now, with a presidential campaign in the offing. He said it was planned to send two letters to 6,000,000 voters next year at an estimated cost of 10 cents a letter.

Capt. Stayton said his address was in reality an accounting of his stewardship during the last year. He declined to reveal details of this year's work.

The names of those invited to the dinner were withheld. It is known, however, that among those invited were James W. Wadsworth, Jr., former United States senator from New York; Dr. Nicholas

SOCIALISTS TRIUMPH
IN BRUNSWICK VOTE

III Omen for German National Elections Upsets Nationalist Caucus.

(Special Cable Dispatch.) Berlin, Nov. 28—Yesterday was a black day for the German nationalists. The Brunswick local parliamentary elections resulted in a smashing defeat for the former Kaiser's adherents, who lost 51 per cent of the votes, half of their seats, and all prospects to continue in the government. They lost the socialists' gain, the combined socialist and共产党 poll showing a 30 per cent increase.

The Brunswick elections proved an ill omen for the forthcoming general election and came as a wet blanket over the nationalist caucus, where a big storm broke out owing to the attempt of the steel helmet forces to capture the party. The steel helmet men demanded that seventeen of their most prominent leaders placed at the top of the party's candidate lists, but the executive committee, after a stormy debate, declined, allowing only seven "steel helmet" men to become candidates.

Residents Resort to Flood
Lights to Outwit 'The Cat'

Cleveland Park Back Yards Now Are Bright at Night,

Home—Private Detectives Guarding Others.

Perplexed over the failure of police to catch Washington's "cat burglar," and fearful of further depredations by the city's most active and brazen night prowler, citizens living in Cleveland Park are employing private detectives and are using flood lights to guard their homes. A movement is under way, it was learned, to organize a corps of vigilantes.

Seven men, employed by a local detective agency, have been patrolling the neighborhood and making personal inspection of homes in the vicinity of Newark street and Forty-fourth place for several days.

Last night Dr. Harry T. Osborn, of 3407 Woodley road northwest, placed a 200-watt flood light with a reflector on the top of his house in an effort to frighten away "the Cat." The rays from the light carry more than 150 feet and flood the ground in the rear of Dr. Osborn's home. The light was the idea of Mrs. Margaret Osborn, the doctor's wife.

CORPORATIONS WIN CUT
IN INCOME TAX FOR 1927

Ways and Means Republicans
Vote for Reduction to Be Effective March 15.

DEMOCRATS PLAN FIGHT

(Associated Press.)

Over the protest of the solid Democratic membership, the House ways and means committee yesterday decided to make the proposed reduction in the tax rate on corporation incomes apply to payments due next March 15. The vote was 13 to 10.

Determination of the question disposed of the last of a number of major issues that have developed during the drafting of the $236,000,000 tax reduction bill that the committee plans to present to the House shortly after Congress convenes next Monday.

Chairman Green said, Republicans felt that corporations should receive the benefit of the proposed cut in the rate from 15% to 11½ per cent as soon as possible. He added that in previous years such reductions always had been applied to payments due the following March.

Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee, contended that corporations already had included the tax on 1927 earnings in the construction of oil storage tanks and other improvements at the Pearl Harbor naval base in Hawaii.

Hogan defended Doheny in the criminal and civil actions centering about the Elk Hills naval reserve lease which the Government succeeded in having canceled. The courts forced Doheny and his associates to turn back to the Government $13,009,507, representing oil taken from the reserve as reimbursement for expenditures at Pearl Harbor.

"When Mr. Doheny obtained the Elk Hills naval oil leases, he agreed to build storage tanks and other improvements for the navy at the Pearl Harbor base in Hawaii and to take from the oil reserve a quantity of oil sufficient to reimburse him for the money expended," Hogan said.

"He constructed the tanks and in return received oil to the value of more than $11,000,000. Then, aside from the criminal proceeding it started, the Government brought civil action to cancel the lease, at the same time demanding that Mr. Doheny and his companies pay for the oil taken from the reserve.

"The Government was successful in Melton Mowbray, England, Nov. 28 (A.P.)—The Prince of Wales was tossed from his horse while hunting with the Quorn hounds today, thus adding anxiety for his safety to the general sorrow over the death of Lady Victoria Bullock, who was fatally injured last week following the same hunt.

Green explained the committee re-versed itself after being informed that under the proposed plan the Government would lose a number of employees experienced in revenue administration.

2 Student Fliers Die
As Their Plane Burns

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Jack Gague and James C. Gilispie, student fliers, were killed in an airplane crash at Love Field near here today. Both lived in Dallas.

Taking off against a hard wind, the fliers were unable to gain altitude because of a missing motor and attempted to return to the field. Their ship fell into a spin, crashed and then burst into flames.

Pills Prove Fatal
To 3-Year-Old Child

A quantity of pills which he found on a bureau shelf and swallowed, unknown to his mother, caused the death at Georgetown Hospital yesterday of William Nathaniel Sanderson, 3 years old, of 3285 M street northwest. The child died in convulsions. Physicians said that he must have swallowed the entire contents of the bottle, as a few of the pellets would have induced only a slight illness.

Mrs. Ivy M. Sanderson, the child's mother was attracted to the bedroom of their home by her baby's screams. She carried the child to the street, hailed a passing automobile and took him to the hospital where he died a half hour after arrival.

BODIES OF MISSING ARMY FLIERS FOUND IN MOUNTAIN WOODS

Searching Party Finds Victims After Aviator Spies Wreckage From Air.

Uniontown, Pa., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—The rugged mountains of Pennsylvania, nemesis of aviators, have claimed the lives of two additional birdmen.

Missing for three days, the crushed bodies of the airmen—Pilot E. R. Emery, of Newark, Ohio, and Mechanic William D. Zolman, of Fredericktown, Ohio, were found yesterday in a dense forest near the top of a mountain ridge in one of the wildest regions of Fayette County. Strewn over an area of several hundred square feet was the wreckage of the heavy Douglas O-2 plane.

It was the general belief of aviators here that the aviators, beset by motor trouble and lost in a heavy mountain fog and rain Friday afternoon, abandoned hope of locating Burgess Field on the outskirts of Uniontown and descended from the mountain. They were there when they were 300 feet above the mountain tree tops, not sufficient altitude to make their parachutes function. Emery's parachute was partly opened, while Zolman's was strapped to his back.

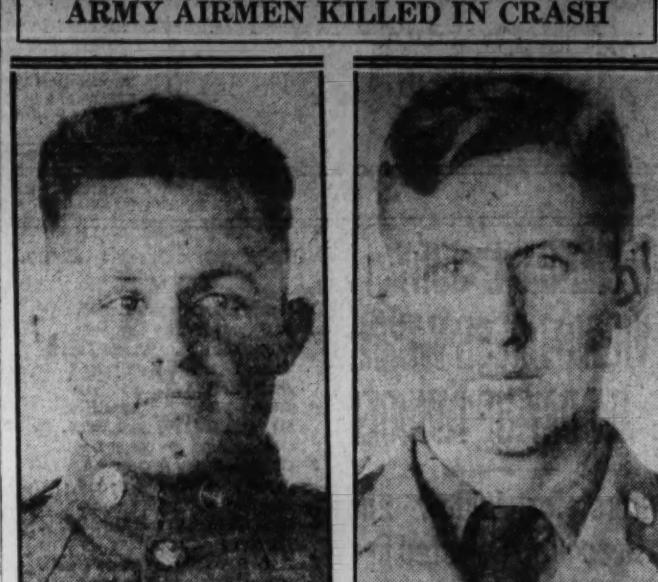

Motor Shattered to Pieces.

Most of the plane wreckage was found on the east side of Lick Run, a mountain stream swollen by recent rains. On the other side of the run, some 200 feet away, were the crushed bodies. Mute evidence of the terrific force of impact, the plane wreck was found in the fact that even the big motor was shattered into pieces.

The search for the missing airmen, en route from Washington to Columbus, Ohio, ended this morning when Lieut. Eugene Bayley, commanding at Burgess Field, spied the wreckage of the plane. Mute evidence of the terrific force of impact, the plane wreck was found in the fact that even the big motor was shattered into pieces.

Both men were missing during the carnival held by Maggie M. Smith, house-holds; Margaret Kelson, fancy work; Ollie Braverman, gypsy lore; Mary Tate, Japanese tea; Irma Young, dolls; Rose Henderson, candies; Sergio John, ceramics; sports; L. A. Finckney, mosaics.

A competitive drill of various fraternal organizations will be held tonight, and a baby contest tomorrow night. The carnival has been arranged by the Auxiliary committee consisting of Natalie E. Taylor, chairman; Mamie Tate, secretary, and Cora E. Young, treasurer.

DELAY IN HEARINGS IN CONTEMPT CASES BANNED BY GORDON

District Attorney to Press for Early Trial of Burns, Sinclair and Aids.

CLASH OF LAWYERS IS EXPECTED MONDAY

Heads of Detective Agency Served With Citation Issued by Justice Siddons.

(Associated Press)

Indictments that Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns and their four associates, cited for criminal contempt of court for their part in the Fall-Sinclair joint surveillance scandal, would seek delay or adjournment, doubtless, if separate were met yesterday with the blunt announcement by District Attorney Gordon that no delay in the hearing would be permitted.

In granting the application of the district attorney that he issue a rule citing all four of his associates and the detectives for contempt in shadowing the trial jury, Justice Frederick L. Siddons in the District of Columbia Supreme Court insisted that the hearing be held at the earliest possible moment, and that the parties, with the hope of the district attorney that the hearing be completed before January 1 forecast a clash over the subject at the opening of the hearing Monday.

But with his son, W. Sherman, founder and head respectively of the Bureau Detective Agency and C. L. Snipes, their Baltimore manager, were served here yesterday with the citation in the office of their attorney, Charles A. Douglas. At that time Douglas indicated that the respondents would contend that they were being put in double jeopardy because the grand jury investigating the Government's charges of tampering with the trial jury had not complete its work.

Reply Will Be Delayed.

Douglas also indicated that the counsel for the respondents would ask the court whether any presentations had been returned against any of the six testifying witnesses, and Justice Siddons to have the case heard in the full bench. Granting of such a request, however, would be entirely at Justice Siddons' personal desire.

The reply of the detectives to the petition to the district attorney charging that Sinclair and Burns had hired Sheldon Clark to Washington to hire Burns detectives to "spy up, bribe and otherwise influence the trial jurors," will not be presented in court until the hearing starts, Douglas said.

PIGGY WIGGLY

Here Is A Bread
For the Youngsters

A "bread for youngsters" is bread that they like—that they will eat. Bread is such a perfect and well balanced food for the growing child that practically all mothers wish their children would eat more bread.

LADY ALICE BREAD

Baked in our own ovens right here in Washington, made of only the finest and choicest ingredients and delivered TWICE DAILY to all Piggly Wiggly stores, has a flavor and freshness that is unequalled.

Children are much like grown folks—they eat what tastes good. It is no trouble to get them to eat bread when they like it. And they will like Lady Alice Bread.

Of course there is every kind of loaf you want—whole wheat—rye—split-top, etc.—

INDIANA BRIBE CASE INDICTMENT RULING TO BE MADE FRIDAY

Court Hears Motion to Quash Charge Against Gov. Jackson and Others.

LIMITATIONS STATUTE INVOKED BY COUNSEL

State Counters That Threats Kept the Alleged Plot Secret Until Recently.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Whether Gov. Ed Jackson, George V. Coffin, Marion County Republican chairman, and Robert L. Marsh, former attorney for the Ku Klux Klan, shall stand trial on a charge of attempted bribery will be determined next Friday afternoon.

Special Judge Oscar H. Montgomery set that date for announcing his decision following arguments in criminal court today on a motion to quash the indictment against the men. They are charged with attempting to bribe Warren T. McCray, when he was governor in 1923, James J. McDonald, Marion County prosecutor.

Motion of D. C. Stephenson, now a life convict in State prison and formerly a ruler of the Ku Klux Klan, enlivened the afternoon session. Stephenson was alleged to have entered into the conspiracy with the three men.

Limitations Law Invoked.

Lewis B. Eubank, attorney for Gov. Jackson, contended that the indictment should be quashed under the statute of limitations. Pointing out that an alleged offer of $10,000 was made McCray in 1923, he held that the men to be legally tried should have been brought into court within two years of that time.

Contending that Jackson, Coffin and Marsh concealed their alleged crime until July 25, 1927, Prosecutor Remy argued that the statute of limitations no longer applied.

Remy said McCray the time of the alleged approach as being in dire straits—under indictment in the county courts, penniless and fearful of the influence of the Ku Klux Klan and the three defendants in the event he told of the attempted bribery.

Klan Power Alleged.

"They told him they had the power backed by 200,000 members of the Ku Klux Klan, to keep him from being convicted in the county courts and when he declined to name McDonald they kept him quiet through fear of other use of that same influence," Remy asserted. Even after being convicted in United States District Court, fear of their influence in keeping him from getting a parole kept McCray quiet.

Attorney Eubank derided Remy's statements that McCray feared Jackson, Coffin or March.

"Assuming that mention of the Ku Klux Klan can be made in this case, it does not appear it carried anything outside the State courts," Eubank said. "McCray was convicted in the Federal Court. He could have told of the alleged approach at that time."

McCray was released from Federal prison several months ago, after serving one-third of a ten-year sentence for using the mails to defraud. Is named on the indictment as a State witness.

Kresge Is Awarded
$640,398 Verdict

New York, Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Sebastian S. Kresge, chain store magnate, today was awarded $640,398 in his $685,000 suit against W. E. Hutton & Co., stock brokers. The amount of the suit, representing the value of 5,700 shares in the Kresge Co., which Kresge said he loaned Hutton & Co. The company maintained, however, that it had only acted as Kresge's agent in loaning the stock to the now defunct firm of J. M. Byrne & Co., in an effort to save it from bankruptcy.

The award was computed at $550,488, with $89,912 interest dating from December, 1923, the time of the loan.

Counsel for Hutton & Co. announced that the case would be carried to the appellate division.

Young Kresge Placed On College Probation

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Howard C. Kresge, of Detroit, and James Lewis, of Toledo, University of Michigan students, who were detained by customs officials at Detroit recently when eleven bottles of whisky and champagne were found in their car, were placed on probation today by the University of Michigan disciplinary committee.

Kresge is the son of Sebastian S. Kresge, Antisaloon League philanthropist and 5-and-10-cent store magnate. Young Kresge and Lewis are the relatives of the Kresges and are other than those pertaining to their studies. Their automobile was impounded by customs officials, but released when a fine of $55 was paid.

Moral Aimed at Parents In New Play at Belasco

"Restless Women" Portrays What Happens to Home When Mother Goes "Modern" at Forty—Miss Winifred Barry Does Fine Ingénue Work.

Anna Held, Jr. introduces "Restless Women," a comedy-drama with a new single, by Syrene Stone. Staged by Bertie Fawcett, a Theresia Maxwell Concourse, and directed by William Fawcett, their daughter, Edith King, Bertie Fawcett, their daughter.

Arthur Van Wieren.....William Kolkrath
Nell Jameson.....William Fawcett
Edith Fawcett.....Robert Crozier

Beatrice Little, the English comedienne, once revolved in a song, "There's Life in the Old Gal Yet."

Though this is somewhat far-fetched, the theme of the new play at the Belasco, "Restless Women," is not far removed from the lyric tone of the aforementioned song hit.

Sidney Stone, author of the work de theater holding the boards at the Lafayette Square playhouse, points a moral lesson in the general direction of women who have reached the called dangerous age: married women, usually, who kidnap young fellows and start down the primrose path that leads to destruction.

There is a new slant to the familiar story of youth gone wrong, when another starts to stir—leaving two daughters and a heartbroken husband in her wake. One daughter, the elder, eventually takes away the mother's wandering friend. The other daughter, a young slip of a girl, drinks herself unconscious and falls into the arms of deviant parents. Out of evil comes good.

The jazz age, the younger generation, sin guzzling, sin and serendipity have had their day on the stage. In an attempt to paint the picture from a different angle, Mr. Stone puts the high-spirited girls canvass up nearer the ends of the tables—show them as a group of bunglers, a trail of wreckage in their tracks.

When Wilma Fawcett closes a year in Paris, at the salons, she returns home to find her mother and father in a house divided—the father a helpless drunkard, the mother a woman of high social position, but still infatuated with a man her junior by 20 years. A natural setting, the sorry sequence is that daughter and mother's son friend.

LIGHT OPERA COMPANY
REVIVES FAMOUS WORK

T. Arthur Smith's Organization, at President, Scores Another Hit.

CHORUS' WORK EXCELS

Reginald de Koven's delightful opera "Robin Hood" was repeated at the President Theater last night before an enthusiastic audience, who gave the stage for this one night by popular request and from the responsiveness of the audience it might be kept over the entire week. It is not for the fact of its age, however, just as much as the open booking for presentation tomorrow night by the President Theater Players. That "The Chocolate Soldier" comes back to Washington.

In "Robin Hood" the President Theater Light Opera Company finds music to its liking. There is a spontaneity about it all that makes for a charming evening in the theater. Though the piece has been done here any number of times it is doubtful if any other production ever exceeded the present occupants of the President Theater.

Miss Hazel Huntington, leading as Maid Marian, has a soprano voice of remarkable quality and with power that is just sufficient for an ornamental theater. Her difficult solo in the second act reveals a perfect control, an accuracy combined with sweetness that makes the number a delight. Equally fine with a fuller strength, the contralto of Miss Anne Alan-a-Dale, whose rendering of the familiar "Oh Promise Me" is warmly received. Miss Mary Craig as Abigail is another sopranos of pleasing talents. Of the singing men, Harry Pfeil as Robin Hood himself goes through the music with a clear and booming bass, sings impressively on the jet black and clear tenor. William Mitchell is admirable in voice as Little John. Leonard Tetley is Guy of Gisborne, and right good, too.

The good old Sheriff of Nottingham, with his eagle eye, is in clever hands. Ed Andrews is the man, a real comedian, Lee Dale as Friar Tuck amuses without abusing his privileges. The Tinker's Song is well done, except that the refrain, one of the most catchy airs in the opera, was ruined on the first night by too much pain pounding. By this time it has probably been improved. So comes the President into its own—the home of light opera.

DISSENSION MARKS
CORN BELT PARLEY

Sister of Stinson Is Bride at Santa Fe

Santa Fe, N. Mex., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Miss Katherine Stinson, well-known aviatrix, and a sister of Eddie Stinson, Detroit airplane manufacturer, was married here today to Miguel A. Otero, Jr., state auditor.

The corn belt delegates bore down on Mr. McNary in his office late yesterday afternoon and wrestled long and soundly with the Oregon senator. They sought to point out the errors of his ways. He was charged with desertion of the true faith of McNary-Haugenism. They demanded that he get back on the reservation and go to bat again for the McNary-Haugen bill in the coming session.

The meeting was described afterward as "heated in spots." The Oregon senator appears to have stood his ground and slammed back at his critics right vigorously. He did not consider the accusations of infidelity.

He thought he had worked out a bill that would stabilize farm products priced on levels predictable to the farmers and he deemed it his duty to support such a compromise. The President would accept. If the President did not accept, he indicated that he would be found fighting again for the McNary-Haugen bill.

The corn belt men came away from the conference predicting that McNary's compromise scheme would blow up and that the Oregon senator in the end would retreat to the McNary-Haugen bill and push it through the Senate.

The corn belters who are most inclined to McNaury accuse him of siding up to the Administration and the Eastern Republicans with the hope of being rewarded with the nomination for Vice President. The corn belters retort with their accusations, too, to the effect that Peck and the rest of the corn belt contingent are determined to force another vote on the McNary-Haugen bill in order to rouse the West to a demand for Lowden for President.

CAPITAL YOUTH IS LEADER

FIND HIM NOT HAUGHTY

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—As with nothing new in the play, it has moments of suspense, if not surprise. It works along at happy gags after a seven-minute monologue. This is partly due to a vivacious young lady by the name of Winifred Barry. A beautiful young blonde with a decided British accent, Miss Barry managed to whip up the speed of the play every time she appeared. She was the opposite accent slightly covered, she would emerge as the most perfect sample of the newer generation seen in this precinct since the departure of Edna Hubbard and others of her type. As it is, she is a treat.

Editor King is contrasted with the role of the elder daughter. This is the girl who must needs set her mother right. Miss King plays the part to perfection, countenancing its imperfections. There is a lot of preaching and such talk with the sermon every now and then shot with the sermon of direction of mother dear.

The ill-fated and fated, mother is the pivot about which revolves the entire play. She is the wayward girl, Mrs. Maxwell, Cooper handles her difficult role rather well. A girl calling for great emotional strain, she does better by it in the lighter touches where, perchance, she makes love to the youth. There is a highly melodramatic spot where the young daughter falls in love with the man of her mother's fancy—and this the author has taken as the proper finish for his play. A shock, it naturally brings the old lady to her senses, sends her at one and the same time to her knees and to her husband's arms. If such a situation can be imagined. Another theme works its way into the fabric: A Little Child Shall Lead Them.

Probably these things do happen in real life—it makes no difference. If they do, there must be fathers such as this, who are so good-natured and with such fine restraint by Wilfred Barry. A quiet, even-tempered father he is, a man who comes under the head of being a "good provider." He stands silently by and watches his family disintegrating.

"Restless Women" is not without its points, but, as it stands, it is rather too didactic. A little lesson in the theater goes a long way.

JOHN J. DALY.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 28—Moving picture celebrities often report amusing experiences with "fan" letters and other tributes from eccentric admirers. The past few weeks brought an interesting one-sided and not entirely amusing experience to Eddie Dowling.

Billie, who is renowned for her beauty of form and face, has been the weekly recipient of a sheaf of American Beauty roses, sent to the studio. The sender is one who gives a Chicago date line to his letters, which are those of a man to his wife.

Billie's Windy City devotee is sure that some day you will be my true and loving wife"—this, in spite of the fact that Billie has been happily married for several years to Director Irvin Willat.

Billie's masked marvel now promises, rather than threatens, to come to Hollywood in January to get better acquainted with his "little wife-to-be." He posted his last letter as follows:

"I served in the allied forces during the war, and if America had not entered the war at the time she did, the allies would not have won the war. Believe me, yours affectionately."

Eddie Lowe has had recent experiences a trifle different. His latest unsolicited correspondent is a man who insists on writing to Eddie in Boston, Massachusetts, and he has no name to give him. Eddie, anonymous letter writer seems to have decided that Eddie's friend, Dix, should be prepared for a funeral. This strange correspondent writes to Lowe: "Don't get discouraged, Eddie. If our last plan fails, through we can, and will, get him yet."

Eddie has a sordid comic worry as to what would happen if the police found him with letters showing him as an accomplice to all appearances. In murdering one of his very good friends.

Still another "nut" is setting Beverly Hills by the ears by calling up celebrities when they are out and leaving messages that some friend called, giving the names and telling them not to be other celebrity. The calls are always timed for when the person called is out and the number given to be called are always accurate. It is getting to be quite an annoyance and there is speculation as to how the numbers are obtained, as the film folk are careful not to have listed telephones as a measure of protection from just such annoyances.

6 Now Believed Dead In Canada Rail Wreck

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Discovery of the body of a man and parts of what was believed to be his skull in a cut in the ice increased the death toll to six in yesterday's crash at Rockhill between a Canadian Pacific passenger train and a freight.

Daniel Foster is good as the young man who wins the same blonde and also the handsome dead girl's lover. Grace Menken plays cleverly as still another type of the flapper, the luxurious and treacherous kind of flapper. May Duray does an excellent bit as the handiwork of the first scene.

The staging is also worthy of John Golden, but the lighting is poor. The sets by Willis Polk and P. Dodd Ackerman. Winchell Smith is responsible for the appearances. The comedy is enjoyable from one end to the other and will satisfy the most exacting.

90-Year-Old Woman Made Happy by Bob

Spokane, Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Take it from Grandmother Mary Demarest, 90, whose grandson, Frank, owns a barber shop in Eatontown, both are in agreement that the 100th birthday of the old dame is a happy occasion.

Frank, who has been caring for his grandmother since she became bedridden, has been taking care of her with the help of his wife, Anna. All the time she had regarded it as a freakish whim, but on Thanksgiving eve she visited Frank's shop and had a shingle bob, and today declared she is the proudest old lady in the country.

"I guess we all have to live and learn," she said.

High Swedish Honor Is Awarded Dr. Mayo

Minneapolis, Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Dr. William J. Mayo, of Rochester, has been named a commander of the Royal Order of the North Star by King Gustav of Sweden. The honor is the highest in the Swedish armed forces.

It is one of the highest awards with in the gift of the crown of Sweden for outstanding achievements in the field of science, and comes to Dr. Mayo as official recognition of the work of the Mayo Clinic.

"This issue," he added, "is not being fought out over an aroma. It is an intoxicating liquor that the opponents of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are seeking."

"We are going to graft upon our constitutional system deliberately the doctrine of nullification, to get rid of a law, the question arises as to whether or not we are really an independent self-governing community," Senator Borah said.

Describing how President Lincoln upheld the enforcement of the fugitive slave law, although he said he hated slavery, the speaker said: "Is there any Republican or Democrat who loves liberty more than Lincoln loved liberty?"

"It begins to look as though we were going to have a convention in 1928 instead of a caucus," he said of the Republican party—"as though we were going to have not only a ratification, but a nomination. I believe in open nominations, openly arrived at."

Sacristan Is Among 4 Executed in Jalisco

Mexico City, Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Four prisoners, including a man described as the sacristan of Jacala Parish, have been executed in the State of Jalisco after the defeat of a rebel force, says a special dispatch from Zamora. The executions were carried out after the corn belt men were found court-martialed.

Democrats Discuss Strategy and Policy in Office of Robinson.

(Associated Press.)

A call for a conference of Senate Republicans for Friday was issued yesterday by Senator Warren, of Wyoming, oldest member of the Senate both in point of years and of service.

Warren acted because Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the party leader, and Senator Watson, of Indiana, assistant leader, are both in the status of senators-elect and consequently not strictly members of the Senate until after they take the oath Monday.

At the conference a floor leader and assistant leaders and a conference secretary will be selected and the committee on committees named to rearrange memberships on the standing committees of the Senate.

Also candidates for president pro-tempore and other Senate officers may be selected, with the probabilities that George Moses, of New Hampshire, also now a senator-elect, will be nominated to succeed himself as president pro-tempore.

Policies May Be Considered.

Matters of policy also may be taken up.

It is known that the Republican leaders will seek to obtain an agreement whereby the fight over administering of the oath of Senators-elect Smith, of Illinois, and Vare, of Pennsylvania, will be postponed until after the Senate is reorganized, so that President Coolidge's annual address can be transmitted to Congress on the second day of the session, one week from today.

Questions of strategy and policy were discussed at a conference yesterday of Senate Democratic leaders in the office of Senator Jones (Democrat), the minority floor leader. Those attending included Senators Pittman, of Nevada, the Democratic selection for president pro-tempore, and Harrison, of Mississippi.

Jones Gives Ship Aid
Plans to Coolidge

(Associated Press.)

Two proposals for building up the American Merchant Marine were laid before President Coolidge yesterday by Senator Jones (Republican), Washington, who said that if American commerce is to be expanded, the United States must provide more ships.

The senator said he would reintroduce the two proposals he made to Congress last year, one to encourage private interests to build and operate ships under Government subsidy, the other to provide that the Government itself construct more ships and operate them. The President already has indicated a belief that private capital should build the ships and that any form of Government subsidy would have little chance of congressional approval.

Border Patrol Seizes
19,382 During Year

(Associated Press.)

One of the newest armed forces of the Federal Government, the immigration service border patrol, was declared yesterday in a Labor Department report to be demonstrating skill and efficiency. During the last five years it had 781 men on duty, as against 632 men the year previous, and it apprehended 19,382 law violators, as against 5,580 during the previous twelve months. The force picked up 12,098 aliens seeking to enter the country carriers last year, while in the previous year it captured 3,382. It also seized 786 automobiles and 303 boats engaged in smuggling.

Insists Beach Confessed.

Touching on the disappearance of Beach shortly after the crime, Mr. Hinkle said:

"Beach went to another city. While there he spoke to a man and asked for money to get some rings out of hock. He said, 'I'm in a terrible jam and have got to have the money,' and then he said he had killed Dr. Lilliendahl."

The innocent call, "Yoo-hoo," commonly used as a friendly greeting among schoolgirls, played an important part in the grim business of covering up the murder of Dr. Lilliendahl, the jury heard.

"Mrs. Lilliendahl drove her aged husband to that secluded spot he said, 'and there Beach killed him.'

"Then Beach fled through the underbrush. As he reached the main road, where his car was parked, he raised his hands to his mouth and signaled her that he was safe, saying, 'Yoo-hoo,' he called miming, 'I'm safe now, go ahead and spread the alarm and tell your story of two negroes attacking you and killing your husband. I'm off to fix up my alibi.'

Hinkle said that Mrs. Lilliendahl contradicted herself several times in telling authorities her story that two negroes had killed her husband.

He concluded in slightly more than half an hour and immediately called the first witness, E. D. Wrightmeyer, a civil engineer, who told of making a map of the murder scene off the Atison road near Hammonton.

J. G. Woolman, milk truck driver, told of driving along the Atison road, near Hammonton, on September 15, the day Dr. Lilliendahl was killed. He identified Mrs. Lilliendahl as a woman he saw the night for help. She said two colored men had attacked her. Woolman testified.

Saw Rag on Bush.

The witness said he noticed a white rag tied to a bush near where Mrs. Lilliendahl was standing.

The State is expected to prove that the white rag marked the lane so that Mrs. Lilliendahl would know where to drive in where Beach was waiting to commit the murder.

Exert Vigilance During Holiday Season.

A warning to housewives to be skeptical of house-to-house peddlers, canvassers and door-to-door salesmen or confidence-seekers, who are taking full advantage of the public's new early Christmas shopping attitude, was issued yesterday by the Merchants and Manufacturers Association.

Householders were urged, in the statement, to exert more than ordinary vigilance now that the Yuletide shopping season has been ushered in so briskly. The association declared that the "trick" operators are preying on the holiday spirit of the buying public this year more than ever. The association points out that the use of the term "use this season to solicit homes for the sale of all manner of commodities, some of which will turn out as represented, but in too many cases, the organization states, the schemes are fraudulent and the housewife will lose whatever investment she makes."

Last year at this season many housewives were swindled, and reputable representatives this year are finding it difficult to obtain the necessary audience with the prospective purchaser, according to the association. It urges a careful inspection of all merchandise not offered through regular channels of distribution, as in many instances it fails to measure up to the expected standard.

FARM RELIEF CONFUSION.

There appears to be no limit to the number of Congressional leaders who are willing to lead the farmer out of the wilderness into the land of plenty. There may be some doubt as to the exact number of senators and representatives waiting for the presidential bell to ring them, but a census of those with a guaranteed plan for farm relief would hardly skip a single member. Few sessions of Congress have been ushered in with so much confusion on an issue destined to play as important a part as agricultural legislation will play between now and June.

The hope is, of course, that there will be some compromise, but the difficulty is in finding a middle ground upon which Congress and the President can agree. So far the majority of suggestions have served only to produce the exact opposite from some other quarter. There are those who reason in some strange fashion that the tariff is to blame for the farmer's troubles, and Senator Capper, of Kansas, believes that they need additional protection. There are those who will have nothing but the equalization fee, and others who refuse to accept any measure embodying such a principle. There are those who want a Government subsidy regardless of the cost, and those who are willing to give the farmer a bounty providing the cost is not excessive.

Such divergent views are disturbing enough to those interested in some actual solution, but more disquieting still is the insistence of a large group of mid-Western members for repassage of the McNary-Haugen bill. It is impossible to discover what motives, other than those of a political nature, can prompt such a position. The margin by which the measure passed at the last session of Congress was so small that its proponents welcomed the legislative jam in the Senate that prevented a vote on the veto. It is patent that two-thirds vote for the bill with the equalization fee can not be obtained. It is, however, stated that the group which demands the same measure without change or correction is large enough to block any other proposal.

Any such tactics ought to make plain to the country that what the political farmers want is not settlement of the problem of farm relief, but a continuation of the present stalemate into the 1928 presidential campaign. Failure to do something for agriculture between now and the time of the election may serve the personal ends of some men in public life temporarily, but can do them no good in the long run. A solution that is fair to the taxpayer and just to the farmer is to be desired, but it can be achieved only through compromise, not by stubbornness.

MUSSOLINI AND ECONOMIC LAW.

The Italian attempt to control prices and wages has not met with the success anticipated. Rumblings of displeasure and discontent have been in evidence from the first. Although no "untoward incident" has arisen, Mussolini having been able through his great popularity and through appeals to patriotism to thrust upon the Italian people mandates and programs which another people would have actively resisted, additional straws appear almost daily to show which way the wind is blowing.

The money crisis in Italy, for instance, has become acute. Not only have wages reached what is described as an absolute minimum, but retail prices have refused to heed the man-made dictate, remaining generally at their previous level. Furthermore, several Italian factories recently have been forced to meet their weekly pay rolls with assignats—notes on property, the employers having found it impossible to get money. Assignats are taken by the banks at a low discount rate.

Payment by property-secured notes, under any consideration, constitutes nothing more or less than a camouflaged currency inflation. To refute this charge, it has been declared that the assignats are only a temporary expedient, drafted to play a part during an emergency shortage of currency. This may be admitted without in the slightest degree jeopardizing the validity of the statement that they represent inflation. Italy, therefore, must proceed cautiously for the time being. Minor inflation can be controlled. There is an inevitable tendency once inflation is undertaken, however, for it to expand and swell until only the most drastic methods will suffice to bring conditions back to normal.

In the meantime, it may be taken for granted that employers will not take kindly to this method of payment, even though they are unable under Italy's present political machine to raise their voices in protest.

Italian management is "between the devil and the deep blue sea." Industry realizes that wages must be reduced if it is to survive. Until prices are reduced, however, labor can not live on less than it receives at the present time. The few attempts at reduction of wages which have been permitted have led to strikes, endangering thereby the success of the Fascist unions and making it necessary for the government to arrest large numbers of strikers. Mussolini, therefore, has refused to sanction further wage reductions, standing upon his prior promise to get retail prices down by December.

December is at hand, and prices still are up. Industry stands in such desperate need of money that it has had to turn to the use of assignats with which to pay its employees. The situation is critical indeed. The attempt to overrule economic law will command all the ability, power and resources that Mussolini can muster.

THE FEDERAL PROPORTION.

Senator Phipps, chairman of the Senate subcommittee in charge of District appropriations, and Representative Zihlman, chairman of the House District committee, are opposed to a continuance of the inequitable method of making local appropriations. They hold that the Federal Government should pay a fixed proportion of the cost of the District government.

Two important key positions now are occupied by champions of just relief for the local taxpayer. Neither Senator Phipps nor Representative Zihlman has indicated what he thinks the Federal proportion should be. Once it is established definitely that the United States has a proportionate interest in the City of Washington, the matter of the extent of that interest can be decided. The local public would appreciate a 50-50 division. Probably this is too much to expect. Under no consideration, however, should the Government expect to assume less than 40 per cent of the load. Somewhere between 50-50 and 60-40 a just division can be struck, under which the excessive burden borne at the present time by the local taxpayer will be eased considerably, while at the same time the United States will not be called upon to pay more than its due.

"The time has arrived," says Senator Phipps, "when Congress should go back to the definite proportion method of providing for the District. With so much Government building to be done, the expenses of the city are bound to increase."

The time for action is more than ripe. Washingtonians, in fairness and justice, are entitled to financial relief. The authority of the House and Senate District committees should be strengthened with the voice of every civic and trade body, every organization, every association and every individual, in order that Congress may overrule the clique in the House that seeks to saddle upon individual Americans the burden that should be borne by the Government.

HABEAS CORPUS.

A decision of far-reaching importance in enforcing a writ of habeas corpus has just been rendered by Judge Cardozo, of the New York Court of Appeals. Benny Sabatino was a prisoner in the State penitentiary at Auburn, where he was serving an indeterminate sentence. There appears to have been a difference of opinion between Sabatino and the warden of the prison as to the expiration of the sentence. For three and a half years the prisoner kept up his attempts to obtain his liberty. Finally a writ of habeas corpus was granted, and in June last the appellate division, which in the jurisprudence of the Empire State ranks with the circuit courts in the Federal judiciary, ruled that the original writ sued out by the prisoner was a proper grant. The appellate division directed the immediate discharge of the prisoner from the custody of the warden.

The attorney general of the State was not satisfied with the finding, and took an appeal. The warden refused to release his prisoner pending the result of that appeal. Sabatino, after waiting several months for the attorney general to bring the case up for argument, went directly to the Court of Appeals, urging that he should be released on his own recognition pending the final result. It is on this direct appeal of the prisoner that Judge Cardozo has made his ruling. That jurist declares that it would be intolerable that the warden of the prison should automatically, by a mere notice of appeal, prolong the term of imprisonment and "frustrate the operation of the historic writ of liberty."

The Court of Appeals "has never held that notice of appeal nullifies the mandate of discharge and works a supersedeas at the will of the custodian," says Judge Cardozo. "Certainly it is that the writ may not be thwarted at the pleasure of the jailer. A statute suspending the effect of the discharge by the mere force of an appeal would be at war with the mandate of the Constitution whereby the writ of habeas corpus is preserved in all its ancient plenitude."

The warden is directed by the mandate to release the prisoner forthwith, without bail or recognizance, until the appeal shall have been determined.

The personality of Sabatino is not of importance to any one but the man himself and his immediate family. But his case has been the basis upon which one of the foremost jurists of the State of New York has been called to interpret anew the meaning of that greatest of all writs ever designed in the interest of justice and the rights of the individual. The Sabatino case serves to prove once again the outstanding importance of the writ of habeas corpus.

TAKING TO THE AIR.

The possibility that Washington may become the headquarters for the production of air flivvers has been suggested through the announcement that Clarence Chamberlin, the pilot of Levine's transatlantic flight, may establish an airplane factory in the National Capital.

Few people realize to what extent the industry has grown. Not one in a hundred knows that there are in the United States today more than 90 firms already engaged in the production of airplanes for commercial flying. Until recently there were few of these machines in use which had not been obtained from the Army or the Navy, having been discarded by those branches of the service as the development of aircraft progressed.

Perhaps, however, the most interesting part of the principal's address was that which dealt with the admission of women to practice as veterinary surgeons. Four women have already so qualified in Great Britain and, it is added, "have taken high degrees," and one of them had been awarded a special memorial prize for being the best student in the final examinations. Others are likely to follow in the footsteps of these pioneers. It was pointed out that, while natural chivalry made men shudder when they thought of women doing the oftentimes dirty work which accompanies medical or surgical attendance on sick cows or horses, there is an enormous field before them in connection with the smaller animals, such as dogs, cats, rabbits and even birds.

Women, it was urged, have more gentle hands than men, and show more affectionate care for domesticated animals, and these qualities would go far toward making them ideal animal doctors.

That is doubtless quite true, but experience proves that professional women are nothing if not thorough, and one may easily feel confident that no part of their subject will be neglected, and that therefore the horses and the cattle will receive from them their proper share of attention.

It is to regulate the traffic to the fullest possible extent that there is every reason to entertain the hope that the men who are licensed to operate the planes used in passenger, express and mail transportation will find it to their interest, as well as to the interest of their employers and patrons, to exercise the utmost care, to the end that safety may be enhanced.

As soon as the public is convinced that there is no greater danger to be anticipated in traveling through the air than is to be encountered on the railways and the highways, flying will become popular. In the meantime, the 90 factories are reported to be turning out airplanes at the average rate of six each day, with every prospect of a very material increase in each of them.

Henry Ford will continue for some time to produce his new model flivvers far more rapidly than Mr. Chamberlin and his fellow craftsmen can turn out air flivvers, but more astonishing things have happened, within the lifetime of the automobile, that another decade should witness the very general use of privately owned planes by business houses for their "drummers" and by every one of means who may desire facilities for prompt transportation always available in his own hangar.

NUNEATON'S BABY.

Nuneaton, England, is claiming an eighth wonder of the world in the person of a 9-month-old baby girl that has never been known to cry. The baby is attracting widespread attention, it is said, because in every other respect she is perfectly normal, and normal babies are supposed to cry occasionally. This one, however, has only a well-developed laugh, which she demonstrates upon the slightest provocation.

There is something wrong with this baby. The average infant does not have an easy time. No matter what may be its whims at any particular moment, it is at the mercy of its elders. If it wants to stay awake, its mother makes it go to sleep. If it wants to sleep, it prefers to keep awake to amuse visitors. It eats when another decides the time is at hand, whether it is hungry or not. Who would not cry if his life were thus ordered?

Has the Nuneaton baby no mind of her own—no temper? Could she go through her monotonous days without crying, if she had? This infant can not be normal. Probably she will grow up to be the counterpart of the timid soul pictured in the cartoons. A baby's tears and howlings can be most annoying at times, it is true, but since they indicate the expression of an individual character, parents the world over will take them any day in preference to Nuneaton's eighth wonder.

CHRISTMAS—DO IT NOW.

Less than a month remains before Christmas. The crowded condition of the stores indicates that for once the public had taken to heart the annual warning to "Shop and Mail Early." The merchant and the postman have been looking for that millennium for a great many years. They await its approach, but will not rejoice until it actually arrives.

There are still those who wait until the last moment to think of others at Christmas time. They resolve each day to heed the warning. Each morning they realize that one more day of the few remaining has dawned and determine to do their shopping and mailing before night—and then they banish all thought of their good intentions until the following day.

These are long days in the stores and post-offices. Few breathing spells come in December to those who are as necessary to Christmas as Santa Claus and the Christmas tree. Their burden is made all the greater by the realization that on the day or two before Christmas, when they are more weary, the strain will be increased, and the flood of last-minute shoppers will shatter their nerves, patience and health to the last point.

It is easier to shop and mail now. There will be less chance of forgetting those who ought to be remembered. Those who give, receive and serve will be happier. The spirit of Christmas ought to persuade all those who believe in it that the easiest is the best way.

Shop and Mail Early.

WOMEN AS VETERINARIANS.

At a recent congress of the British National Veterinary Medical Association the principal of the Royal Veterinary College brought out many points of interest in connection with that profession. Among these is the agitation to establish in Great Britain a veterinary service of public health, which would control the supply of milk and meat. The ground of complaint in this matter appears to be that the efforts made at control are local, not national, and that from the unevenness of action produced by this system deplorable results occasionally flow.

The neglect of an efficient veterinary service in any country may have appalling consequences, as was shown by what happened in Russia. After the revolution in that country, veterinary surgeons, like most other educated people, suffered, and the veterinary service passed into the hands of a cavalry sergeant-major. Within a year, glanders, rinderpest and rabies, three terrible diseases, became widely prevalent throughout the land. The principal of the college declared that, to his knowledge, the man who comes out of prison has great difficulty to adjust himself to conditions outside of the prison, and considering also the bad influence and example which beset him while in prison; that he is usually not taught any trade or so employed that he will be able to use his experience in prison after his discharge to be able to make an honest living, and the attitude of the public against the prisoner, we can appreciate the difficulties facing the discharged prisoner.

I can only repeat, as I have said on previous occasions, that we have to rely principally on swift and sure justice being administered to those who engage in criminal acts; that the criminals must understand that it is almost certain that any criminal act on their part is sure to be detected and quickly punished, and that no politics or money power can help them to avoid the consequences of their crime. In many cases the prisoner who is caught in the first criminal act has not necessarily been a criminal before, while the prisoner after his release belongs to the criminal class, and in many cases can only be kept out of it by proper treatment and good example of the wardens and keepers while in prison.

It is, in my opinion, deeply to be regretted that the number of prisoners in the United States is lately growing to such a large extent. I would rather have some method followed, by which we could decrease crime and yet not increase the prison population, but rather decrease it.

The Cart Before the Horse.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Would Modify Baumes Law.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I greatly admire Senator Baumes' earnest endeavor to check the crime wave, and very likely it has worked out some benefit; but, in my opinion, his plan as it now stands will not get the best results, as it is not clear enough. Perhaps it can be modified in such a way that it will work out satisfactorily.

I think the individual cases must be separately considered. I wonder whether the laws could be so amended that after the jury has given its verdict the sentence could be left to a commission, consisting of the judge who tried the case, together with two other members, who all could study the case thoroughly.

We should bear in mind that the so-called "first" offender may not really be a first offender, but may have committed previous crimes which were not detected until this particular one. Considering the fact that the average prison as now conducted is not a good school; that one can not expect that the prisoner will have improved while he was in prison or that he will be better when he comes out than when he went in; that the man who comes out of prison has great difficulty to adjust himself to conditions outside of the prison, and considering also the bad influence and example which beset him while in prison after his discharge to be able to make an honest living, and the attitude of the public against the prisoner, we can appreciate the difficulties facing the discharged prisoner.

I can only repeat, as I have said on previous occasions, that we have to rely principally on swift and sure justice being administered to those who engage in criminal acts; that the criminals must understand that it is almost certain that any criminal act on their part is sure to be detected and quickly punished, and that no politics or money power can help them to avoid the consequences of their crime.

In many cases the prisoner who is caught in the first criminal act has not necessarily been a criminal before, while the prisoner after his release belongs to the criminal class.

Simple Styles But Tinted, Trend in Women's Shoes

St. Louis, Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Spring shoe styles, displayed today at the annual footwear exhibition, showed a trend toward simpler modes for women, with strong emphasis on colors. Some of the new colors are jade, honey-beige, rose-blush, maroon-glaze, shell-gray, plaza-gray and stroller-tan.

Jesse Adler, of New York, head of the shoe trade's national style committee, said the prevailing style next spring for men would be black and tan oxfords, ranging from brogues to custom-looking types, including what is known as the square toe and French last. Tan shoes will range from medium to brownish tints.

Launching a movement to emphasize "shoe consciousness," Adler said "loss of personality" often resulted from what he termed "shoe shame."

Mrs. Paddleford, International Adventuress, Sentenced on Theft Charge.

THREE MILLIONAIRES WERE HER HUSBANDS

Walls of San Quentin Replace Oriental Splendor in Which She Once Dwelt.

Salinas, Calif., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—Mrs. Genevieve Paddleford, who presided over the homes of three millionaires besides having palaces on the Nile, today was sentenced to prison after conviction of theft. A few hours after she was sentenced, she started to San Quentin Prison in an ambulance.

Miss Paddleford, who is believed to be around the age of 50, "The International Adventuress" will spend some, if not all, of the next ten years in prison. She received an indeterminate sentence of from one year to that maximum when convicted on the charges brought by a Carmel shopkeeper that she illegally acquired goods valued at $225.

The county physician last week informed the court which sentenced her that Mr. Murphy had been suffering from serious ailments.

She received an indeterminate sentence of from one year to that maximum when convicted on the charges brought by a Carmel shopkeeper that she illegally acquired goods valued at $225.

The county physician last week informed the court which sentenced her that Mr. Murphy had been suffering from serious ailments. Her physician, Dr. Henry Murphy, informed the court that his patient was suffering from serious ailments.

Mrs. Paddleford's flitting from country to country has taken her into most of the headlines of women's news in most of their prisons. Her name has been written into court records in the form of larceny warrants and bad check charges, not to speak of divorces.

She gained a place in society here when she married Charles E. Paddleford, of Los Angeles. Notoriety, however, was hers in volume when in 1922 she became embroiled in domestic difficulties. She changed desertion while her husband countered with allegations concerning her property.

They were finally divorced. Reports had it that Paddleford had settled a large sum of money on his wife. At any rate, Mrs. Paddleford and her striking daughter, Cynthia, left soon after word for Europe. When Paddleford from time was in jail in Lucerne, Switzerland, with the daughter seeking funds in France. It was said that Mrs. Paddleford ran up debts of $7,000 francs at Lucerne and took "French leave." At about the same time Vienna shopkeepers swore out warrants for her. From jail she was taken to a hospital.

There was a lull in the news until Mr. Paddleford reappeared again in Los Angeles and friends wondered where his former wife was. They discovered that she was living in Oriental splendor in Cairo, Egypt, having married W. H. Howells, a wealthy ship owner there. Reports said she had one of the largest estates in the Egyptian city, a retinue of servants and jewels worth fortunes. Howells was said at the time to have settled $12,000,000 on his bride.

THE NEW FORD CAR

An announcement of unusual importance to every automobile owner

NINETEEN years ago we made and sold the first Model T Ford car. In announcing it to the public we said:

"We will build a motor car for the great multitude. It will be large enough for the family, but small enough for the individual to run and care for. It will be constructed of the best materials, by the best men to be hired, after the simplest designs modern engineering can devise. But it will be so low in price that no man making a good salary will be unable to own one."

"If I were starting in business today, or asked to restate my policy, I would not change one sentence or one word of that original announcement. In plain, simple language it gives the reason for the very existence of the Ford Motor Company and explains its growth.

IN THE last nineteen years we have made 15,000,000 Ford cars and added to the world nearly 300,000,000 mobile horse-power. Yet I do not consider the machines which bear my name simply as machines. I take them as concrete evidence of the working out of a theory of business which I hope is something more than a theory of business—a theory that looks toward making this world a better place in which to live.

"The Model T Ford car was a pioneer. There was no conscious public need of motor cars when we first conceived it. There were few good roads and only the adventurous few could be induced to buy an automobile.

"The Ford car blazed the way for the motor industry and started the movement for good roads. It broke down the barriers of time and distance and helped to place education within the reach of all. It gave people more leisure. It helped people everywhere to do more and better work in less time and enjoy doing it. It did a great deal, I am sure, to promote the growth and progress of this country.

"We are still proud of the record of the Model T Ford car. If we were not, we would not have continued to manufacture it so long. But 1927 is not 1908. It is not 1915. It is not even 1926.

We have built a new car to meet modern conditions

"We realize that conditions in this country have so greatly changed in the last few years that further refinement in motor car construction is desirable. So we have built a new car. To put it simply—we have built a new and different Ford to meet new and different conditions.

"We believe the new Ford car, which will be officially announced on Friday of this week, is as great an improvement in motor car building as the Model T Ford was in 1908.

Smart new low lines and beautiful colors

"The new Ford is more than a car for the requirements of today. It goes farther than that. It anticipates the needs of 1928, of 1929, of 1930.

"The new Ford car is radically different from Model T. Yet the basic Ford principles of economy of production and quality of product have been retained. There is nothing quite like the new Ford anywhere in quality and price.

"The new Ford has exceptional beauty of line and color because beauty of line and color has come to be considered, and I think rightly, a necessity in a motor car today. Equally important is the mechanical beauty of the engine. Let us not forget this mechanical beauty when we consider the beauty of the new Ford.

by
HENRY FORD

"The new Ford has unusual speed for a low-price car because present-day conditions require unusual speed.

"The world moves more quickly than it used to. There are only so many hours in the day and there is much to be done.

"Fifty and sixty miles an hour are desired today where thirty and forty would have satisfied in 1908. So we are giving you this new speed.

Quiet and smooth-running at all speeds

"The new Ford will ride comfortably at fifty and sixty miles an hour. It has actually done sixty-five miles an hour in road tests.

"Since modern conditions demand more speed, they also demand better brakes to balance this speed. So we are giving you four-wheel brakes in the new Ford.

"The new Ford will be quiet and smooth-running at all speeds and you will find it even easier to handle in traffic than the old Model T Ford.

"The new Ford has durability because durability is the very heart of motor car value. The Ford car has always been known as a car that will take you there and bring you back. The new Ford will not only do that, but it will do it in good style. You will be proud of the new Ford.

"THIS new Ford car has not been planned and made in a day. Our engineers began work on it several years ago and it has been in my mind much longer than that. We make automobiles quickly when we get in production. But we take a long time planning them. Nothing can hurry us in that. We spent twelve years in perfecting our former Model T Ford car before we offered it to the public. It is not conceivable that we should have put this new Ford car on the market until we were sure that it was mechanically correct in every detail.

"Every part of it has been tested and re-tested. There is no guessing as to whether it will be a successful model. It has to be. There is no way it can escape being so, for it represents the sum total of all we have learned about motor car building in the making of 15,000,000 automobiles.

The new Ford will sell at a low price

"The price of the new Ford is low in accordance with the established Ford policy. I hold that it is better to sell a large number of cars at a reasonably small margin of profit than to sell a few cars at a large margin of profit.

"We never forget that people who buy Ford cars are the people who helped to make this business big. It has always been our policy to share our profits with our customers. In one year our profits were so much larger than we expected that we voluntarily returned $50 to each purchaser of a car. We could never have done that if this business had been conducted for the sole benefit of stockholders rather than to render service to the public.

"No other automobile can duplicate the new Ford car at the Ford price because no other manufacturer does business the way we do.

"We make our own steel—we make our own glass—we mine our own coal—we make virtually every part used in the Ford car. But we do not charge a profit on any of these items or from these operations. We would not be playing fair with the public if we did so. Our only business is the automobile business. Our only profit is on the automobile we sell.

"WE ARE able to sell this new Ford car at a low price because we have found new ways to give you greater value without a great increase in our own costs.

"We did not set out to make a new car to sell at such-and-sure a figure. We decided on the kind of car we wanted to make and then found ways to produce it at a low price.

"The new Ford car, as I have said, will be officially announced on Friday of this week. In appearance, in performance, in comfort, in safety, in all that goes to make a good car, it will bear out everything I have said here. We consider it our most important contribution thus far to the progress of the motor industry, to the prosperity of the country, and to the daily welfare of millions of people."

The Secret

The real secret of the surprising goodness of Heinz Oven-Baked Beans is that they really are baked in ovens, and like the best home-baked beans, are nut-brown, mealy and digestible, with a flavor that brings the plates back for more.

Beans that aren't oven-baked can't be labelled "baked". For truly baked beans look for the Heinz label that says "Oven-Baked" - The taste is the test.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. D. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During those years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels which cause a nervous action, causing fits of the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inconstant bowels, you take one or two Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and notice the惊人的 results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Peel Off Wind-Parched Skin

When on cold, crisp days, the skin becomes dry, flaky and rough from the changes in temperature, a little pure mercerized wax, sold at all drug stores, will quickly remedy such defects and keep the skin soft, white and velvety. When used as directed, the wax removes the whole surface skin little at a time, leaving the old skin gone, pimples, freckles, other spots, dried or withered skin and every blemish. Face is purged of all impurities and pores are refined. The under skin then in full view is clear, smooth, wrinkle-free and appears several years younger. Mercerized wax brings out the hidden beauty. To quickly remove wrinkles and signs, use as fast action, one ounce powdered castile and 1 half pint witch hazel.—Adv.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croesote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Creomulsion, a new drug, is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains in the internal Revenue Bureau told detectives he didn't know the pistol was loaded and he accidentally pulled the trigger. J. K. Utley Says He Did Not Know Old Pistol He Was Showing Was Loaded.

WOMAN VISITOR IN CITY

The eagerness of Mrs. Burt J. Clark, 27 years old, to have her uncle, James K. Utley, of 421 Shepherd street northwest, show her an old-fashioned pistol he had found, led to the serious wounding of Mrs. Clark, who was treated at Emergency Hospital for a gunshot wound in her stomach.

From her bed in Emergency Hospital, Mrs. Clark told police the shooting was accidental. She said she had seen the Internal Revenue Bureau told detectives he didn't know the pistol was loaded and he accidentally pulled the trigger. The shooting occurred shortly after 8 o'clock in the parlor of Mrs. Clark.

Test of Taste Convicts Driver Under Dry Law

The old fashioned "test of taste" was resorted to in Police Court yesterday to determine if a certain liquid came within the purview of the Volstead act. As a result of the acute palates of those who qualified as "expert tasters," Fred McKinley Johnson, of 1352 Wallace street northwest, was found guilty of possessing and transporting liquor.

Samples of three one-half-gallon jars of liquor alleged to have been seized when Johnson was arrested November 14, and which had been sent to the Government chemist, were analyzed, turned up missing after the trial had ended in a deadlocked way. It is customary to prove that liquor violates the one-half

VATICAN CHOIR TO SING AT TOMB OF UNKNOWN

60 Voices Will Render Palestrina's Requiem at 1:30 P. M. Tomorrow.

The requieum to the Unknown Soldier by the 60 voices of the Roman Polyphonic Society, or Vatican choir, will be sung over the tomb at Arlington National Cemetery at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, it was announced last night after word of the choir's schedule had been received from New York. The hour had previously been announced as noon.

Arriving in Washington at 11:05 Wednesday, the choir will go to the Mayflower Hotel, where the members are to stop, and immediately thereafter they will go to the White House, where they will be presented to President Coolidge by the Ambassador of Italy to the United States, Noble Giacomo de Martino, and the White House the choir will go to Arlington Cemetery. There their leader, Casimirini, will direct them in one of the sixteenth century requieums of Palestrina, the first time such a tribute has been paid to the Unknown.

Following the Arlington requieum the choir will prepare for the concert at 4:30 at Peabody Hall, the benefit of St. John's Technical School. Standing room was sold at the Metropolitan Opera House for the choir's concert in New York Sunday, and the New York Times' critic said of the concert that "the magic of these voices was so rich and velvety that they suggested a Raphael painting."

Naming New Avenue Vied for By States

Before the program for the new Government buildings gets well under way the States are already vying with each other for the privilege of having the new avenue extending from the Union Station southwest to Peace Monument named in their honor.

It was announced yesterday that Ohio and California had both requested that the new avenue, which will be created under plans for beautifying the Capitol Grounds, but for which no money has yet been appropriated, be named for them. The existing Ohio avenue will be closed as a result of the development of the park area south of Pennsylvania avenue, it is pointed out.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Minar Talks on Club Life

Women do not work well together, and it is the exception to see them "get behind" a leader of their own sex. Mrs. Ruby Lee Minar, Washington real estate woman, last night told the Business and Professional Women's Club of the District of an address on "Suggestions for Club Life at the High Hotel." Mrs. Minar discussed "group consciousness" and the necessity for recognizing two or three "leaders" in any organization in order to accomplish results. She cited increased opportunities afforded women in this age, and advanced "friendship and helpfulness to one another" as the foundation of success.

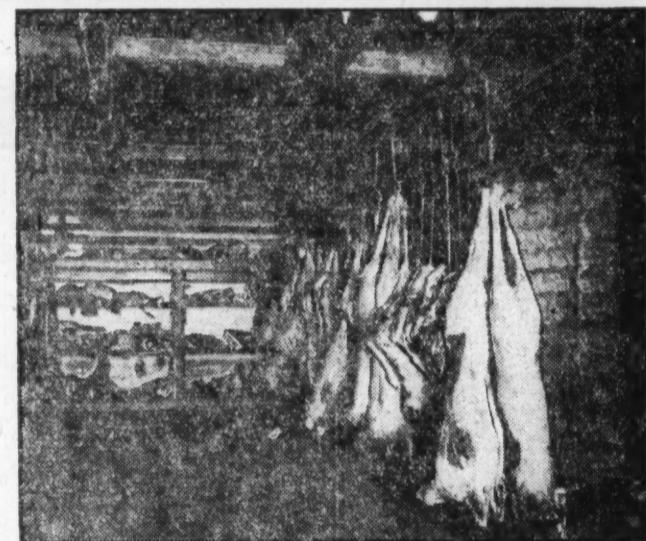

The recent visit of Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, to this city was the subject of an address by Dr. E. C. Barnes last night to a meeting of the Canadian Club at the Hamilton Hotel. Dr. Barnes is the president of the club and the head of music in the public schools in the District.

D. J. H. Miers, of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, London, Ontario, Canada, also gave an address. Mrs. Harry Smith Stahl was in charge of the musical program. The next meeting will be held on December 30.

THE WIFE and CO.

By LYLE HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1927, by Eugene MacLean.)

Names and situations in this story are fictitious.

THE STORY SO FAR.

Molly, a young woman, is now newlywed, but Molly's just taken a half-day job as typist to Mrs. Buck, an author. The little Brownell apartment is now someone else's home. Mrs. Frazier has been discovered, but Mrs. Frazier, Molly's sharp-tongued former ladybird, is Frazier's own sister. Mrs. Frazier has just come back from Europe, where she gives to Mary Holmqvist, a pretty blonde typographer in Frazier's office, the secret that has been kept and hidden by her husband, who is now in jail. Molly Brownell tells Mrs. Buck that she is just going out and being a wild woman.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLV.

The lady writer threw up her hands in delight.

"How's darling!" she exclaimed.

Molly stopped, in bewilderment. "I don't see why it's darling if I feel like being a wild woman," she said.

Mrs. Buck took Molly by the arm with one hand and patted her chin with the other. "Just the way my son is," said she. "They start off being so good and then something happens and they become wild—fearfully wild! Then at the end they're saved by the sweet love of a man, who has reformed them."

"Please let me out," Molly declared.

"What I'm mad about is something different. I know a girl who positively shirtered with every woman she could find, and she got into debt, and married a lounge lizard and he stole every cent she could borrow. And now an old woman has just given her a thousand dollars!"

Her new employer clicked her tongue, tokened of her own complete understanding.

"Isn't it foolish? But then some people do," she inquired. "But we can work it into one of my stories."

"I wish I could work the thousand dollars into my pocketbook," said Molly, disconsolately. She uncovered the typewriter which awaited her on the table, seated herself, and began the dictation that also had remained in place. "I never realized until lately how hard it is to get money."

Mrs. Buck brought out the manuscript that Molly was to copy. "It's here," she said. "Ellie Frazier—Ellie Frazier—proved as deeply interesting on the second day as on the first. Molly's lips were parted and her breath was coming hard before she had copied two pages, and from then on until 5 o'clock she worked steadily."

The villain was such a cold devil-erining in the heroine's face every time she prayed for release! And he was so handsome in his black-eyed, dark-complexioned way, and the heroine was so helplessly in love with him.

"Mary, where is the ring—the one your husband took?"

"I didn't take it—I gave it to him," little Swede contradicted. "He asked me for it."

"But where is it?"

"That other girl has it—the one who jolted him into marrying her. She practically took it away from him! He told me the whole story while we were waiting in the district attorney's office. You'd feel sorry if you could have listened." This girl, probably a forged author once all the rage and now in the literary morgue, untrue stories of wild Western days which we oldsters still hold to read, to untrue stories of confession days which daughters attempt to keep mother from reading, to stories of how adjustable they truly are. And it's a great thing. It makes for progress.

In reading are we any less pliable?

"The best sellers of yesterday which go to the top and become the forged authors once all the rage and now in the literary morgue, untrue stories of wild Western days which we oldsters still hold to read, to untrue stories of confession days which daughters attempt to keep mother from reading, to stories of how adjustable they truly are. And it's a great thing. It makes for progress.

"How then is our pliability? Is it in education, economics, politics? Why? Perhaps because desire to be beautiful, to be loved, to be rich, to play and to enjoy life, to love, to play and to feel are not involved. These emotions and desires are more fundamental than interest in and capacity for thinking. Thinking is slow business. The girls who reasoned on that tremendous problem, 'To bob or not to bob,' had a nervous breakdown.

"Did she go to Somerville to find where she left you?"

"He said that was just an accident meeting her here. She was visiting friends. It was where he met her before—month or two before he met me. And as soon as they let him out of jail he took the train for Somerville. He's going to get my diamond back and go for a divorce right away." She stood, happy at the prospect she had.

"It's the girl's dark. I alternate 'em."

"The girl who got the thousand dollars is dark and she keeps reminding me of her," she said. "I don't think these light blondes make such good heroines. Do you?"

"Well, she has to be blonde in this story, because the man's dark," explained the author. "When the man's blonde, then the girl's dark. I alternate 'em."

"On the way home Molly stopped and bought some beef, ready-roasted—Bob had approved of the food from the restaurant where she dined. She also purchased potato salad, lettuce and a fresh supply of mayonnaise.

She had the table set and the coffee ready when her husband returned home.

"What's that?" Bob announced, as he came in. "Office was worse than ruinous around the streets, any day of the week. Molly, I've lost four pounds!" His eye lit on the dinner. "More beef? Bull! But, Molly, when did you have a chance to eat?"

"I had to buy this at the delicatessen," she admitted. "There isn't time to cook anything but chops after I get home. But those professionals cook better than I do, anyway."

Brownell drew a long sigh in his chair.

"What do you think's happened now?" he asked. She waited in the doorway for him to continue. "Little Swede went at lunch time and gave that woman $500—the woman who had been there!"

"She did?" Molly's hands went up in amazement.

"And the woman has agreed not to testify against him!"

"What's the absolute limit, Bob? Does she mean that he'll be free?"

"Well, the district attorney can go ahead with the case, but I don't see how he can do much if the woman won't testify. Swede was around the office this afternoon happy as a lark."

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE TOASTMASTER.

He hunts up jests and drags them in To make the weary diners grin, He thinks up clever things to say To keep the banquet spirits gay; He makes the names of doctors known Who's wanted on the telephone, He's first to rise, the last to quit, And doesn't like his job a bit.

I've sat and watched him many a night Struggling to make a dull line bright; Fishing for adjectives to praise Some tedious talker's tedious ways; Palavering with flattery o'er.

A man he'd never met before;

Envyng the boys who slip away,

But at his job compelled to stay.

Dear Viola Paris: I am 20 years old. My complexion is very fair and clear as far as blackheads are concerned. However, I find that when I apply rouge it causes my face to look as though many little holes filled with rouge have appeared. Have you any suggestions? A. B.

Answer: These "holes" are probably slightly enlarged pores. Clogging the pores with heavy creams will enlarge them. Cleanse the face twice a day with a good cleansing cream and mild soap and water. Then apply astringent and close the pores. Some beauty specialists make a special strength astringent which you might use until this condition begins to improve. Be sure to use the astringent each time after the face is cleansed.

Dear Viola Paris: What can be done to develop a scrawny neck? A. B.

Answer: These movements done morning and night will help develop the neck.

1. Assume correct posture, place the hands on the hips and let the head drop forward as far as possible. Stick to the left side, then complete circle with the head. Do this slowly 10 times.

2. Bend the head forward and backward, from left to right, and vice versa. Repeat about 10 times in each direction.

3. Raise the right shoulder as close to the lobe of the ear as possible. Repeat with the left shoulder 10 times. Next, move both shoulders upward and downward. This exercise should not be done as though the shoulders were merely shrugged, but with vigor and precision.

Dear M. R. M.: We would suggest a neutral beige flat crepe to combine with your skirt. This year, smart blouses are very often lighter than their accompanying skirts, and beige and dark red combine exceptionally well.

Dear Vogue: I have a pleated skirt of flat crepe, a beautiful shade of dark red, and I should like to combine some sort of material with it to make it a two-piece dress. I am 4 feet 11 inches tall of medium build, with dimples, eyes and hair. M. R. M.

Dear Viola Paris: I am 20 years old. My complexion is very fair and clear as far as blackheads are concerned. However, I find that when I apply rouge it causes my face to look as though many little holes filled with rouge have appeared. Have you any suggestions? A. B.

Answer: These "holes" are probably slightly enlarged pores. Clogging the pores with heavy creams will enlarge them. Cleanse the face twice a day with a good cleansing cream and mild soap and water. Then apply astringent and close the pores. Some beauty specialists make a special strength astringent which you might use until this condition begins to improve. Be sure to use the astringent each time after the face is cleansed.

Dear Viola Paris: What can be done to develop a scrawny neck? A. B.

Answer: These movements done morning and night will help develop the neck.

1. Assume correct posture, place the hands on the hips and let the head drop forward as far as possible. Stick to the left side, then complete circle with the head. Do this slowly 10 times.

2. Bend the head forward and backward, from left to right, and vice versa. Repeat about 10 times in each direction.

Celtics Defeat Washington Again

Palace Tossers Look Unimpressive in 48-40 Defeat.

Champs Step Out in Second Half to Take Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The original Celtics of the American Basketball League, although ineligible for as the Palace Club Five, Washington's league entry, is concerned, for the Celtics defeated the Capital City aggregation at the Madison Square Garden here tonight by the score of 48 to 40.

The Celtics' fourteenth attempt to vanquish the Capital City and similar to previous games, it seems an impossibility for Washington to accomplish that feat.

Lacking spirit and exhibiting poor form in every department of the game, the Palace Five was incomparable to the New Yorkers' clever "passwork."

"Rusty" Saunders, high scorer of the league for three seasons, had an off day or dame luck did not favor him, and the team, which is holding the pivot position at present, could do was score 9 points, and was removed in the second half only to be recalled a moment later.

Dave Banks, the Celtics' diminutive star, was high scorer of the game, garnering seven baskets from floor and one from foul for a total of 15 points.

The Celtics were the first to score by Lopshick two goals from foul, and can up a total of 8 points before Elmer Ripley broke through the home team's puzzling passing and caged the Capital City team's first basket of the contest.

From then on the Celtics tallied continuously until the Palace five awoke from its lethargy and with the aid of Red Corry, who scored seven points, succeeded in repelling the champions and scored eleven consecutive points. The first half ended with the Celtics holding a slim lead, the score being 25 to 23.

The second half was the period in which the visitors lost the game. The Celtics scored eleven points in short

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

LAUDE GRIGSBY, Georgetown's brilliant center and captain, has been chosen as one of the players to represent the East in the benefit game between the East and the West, to be held on December 27 at San Francisco. The All-East representatives are being selected by Andy Kerr, football coach at Washington and Jefferson, who will drill the East's eleven in his profession.

It is expected that Grigsby will accept the invitation and make the trip to the Coast, provided he can obtain permission from the school authorities at Georgetown, which is thought likely.

Grigsby, who has been selected as a leader has stamped him as a truly great player, both from an offensive and defensive viewpoint, who undoubtedly will enhance his own prestige and that of Georgetown, should permission be granted him to play on the Coast.

As a defensive player, Grigsby has no peer in the gridiron history of Georgetown. An aggressive and inspiring leader, the Georgetown captain has set an example for his teammates, both by his playing and by his sportsmanship, which has frequently drawn favorable comment.

Well built and well proportioned, with muscles hardened like steel by months of exercise, Grigsby has been virtually immune to injuries, although at all times he has been in the thick of the fray.

Grigsby, who will be graduated in June, has been playing on the Georgetown Varsity team for the past three years, and has won down the important center position in a very acceptable manner to Coach Lou Little, who with wide experience as player and coach regards Grigsby as one of the best college players in the nation.

New York, Nov. 29 (A.P.)—The fleet eleven of Dartmouth and the Yale Bulldogs that ruined Dartmouth's championship hope each furnished two men for the all-Eastern team for 1927 compiled by the Associated Press from the Eastern Varsity basketball teams.

Influenced, perhaps, by the greater experience of several Army and Navy stars boasting several All-American berths, Grigsby was named at center on the first eleven in "Gibby" Welch, rival of Dartmouth's Al Marsters for recognition as the outstanding Eastern back of the season.

Claude Grigsby, Georgetown's leading candidate for an All-American berth, was placed at center on the first eleven by Coach Lynn Woodworth that he had a combination of skill with the Yankees and the Indians.

Tom Jones, Yale star, Bobby Jones, high-scoring half back, and Eddie Marsters, giant tackle, were among those receiving honorable mention in the selections.

Princeton, while unable to provide a star for the first eleven, furnished three men for the second

JEFFERSON PARK, New Orleans, Nov. 28.—(A.P.)—Phil Chin's Colonel Drage, under a perfect ride, won the Premier Purse, which featured the card day today, in a drive by a nose from Doc Hanes, who was well stirred and sprung to his feet, and is known as the big engine. Doc is second and is followed by two others.

Crow's Nest was third. It was a two-horse race from the start.

Doc broke first, but Colonel Drage outran him to the turn. Col. Drage turned into the stretch, while Doc turned into the stretch, where Doc went wide. Doc recovered quickly and began to close fast, but Colonel Drage held on long enough to win by a nose. Doc took the lead in the stretch and won the race.

The two furthers were run in the fast time of 1:06 3/4.

The long-shot players had an inning in the 11th, when J. M. Eiler, Tom D. Eiler, U.S.A., and Tom D. Eiler, led home a good field of 2-year-olds. He paid $12.50. Southland Boy was second and Fast Wind third.

Two Toms, displaying good speed, was into the lead early and was never headed thereafter, winning handily by half a length. Southland Boy came from behind and closed the race by a length and a half from Fast Wind, who was third.

Go Foin, J. M. Eiler's clever sprinter, scored for the second event, 6-

0, and Sprinter, whose owner gives him a 100 to D. Eiler Evans third. Aileen P. was fourth.

McGowen's Private Setth, perfectly ridden by M. Meyer, scored in a drive by half a length. Southland Boy closed the race by a length and a half from Fast Wind, who was third.

Full Schedules Of Quintets Prepared

Western Only School
Not Already Holding Practices.

Central Advanced in Drills; Eastern Is Well Fortified.

MANY interest in the high schools in the short space of a week has shifted from the gridiron to the football field with every school busy at practice with the exception of Western. Western will not call out its baseball men until Monday, as most of the candidates are football men also and will play a game against Central on the same today with Central's respective schools with the exception of Western and Business have announced their complete schedules. Business has several games planned against Western and both several games with St. Albans, Georgetown boy and other of the local schools.

The interhigh championship game as usual will be played at the Arcadia Field on Saturday, Jan. 21, at 2 p.m. New date, however, is for the football game as it is a fashion show.

Games previously scheduled on January 31 and February 4, will be played on February 10, when Tech meets Central and Western plays Eastern and on February 14, when Business and Central and Eastern and Tech

The Central Squad, which got the jump on the others in that it was jump early for practice, has been out, early for practice, and is now in the middle of the season. The team will make several more trips this year which includes games in January with York, Pa.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Portsmouth, Va., and games in February with Penn Freshmen, Bethlehem, Pa. and Allentown.

Eastern will meet a host of local names in addition to out-of-town games with Reading, Pa., and the Navy. Five or six more trips from Allentown are planned by coach Guyon's suggestion considerably. Among the candidates are Dugay, Faber, Caputo, Wood, C. Mills, Esack, Mueller, Bell, Celentano, Lanza, Hollingshead, Slatkin, Hite, Gion, Chalkley, Shapiro, Senari and Lishman.

Coach Lynn Woodward, at business, looks forward to a successful season with M. Jones, Marks, Davis, Karp, and several men in addition to R. Jones, Gallo, J. Lewis, Dennis, Farren, Cohen, W. Cross, Rich and Payne.

Coach Lowry, at Tech, has been sending his men through their paces for several weeks at the Boys Club, but no scrummage has been held. Berger and Gosselin are the two who seem most back but in Goldblatt, formerly of the Kanawha, who Demare, Forney, Heis, Lewis, McManaman and Mooney he expects shape up a good team.

Pete McGuire, Brown and Sorel, present ineligible, is it hoped will be the grade at the end of this advisory or must be dropped.

When the Western candidates report to Capt. John Garber, Wilson, DeGolyer, Cunningham, Hunt and Fletcher are expected to be the minnows.

CAPITAL TRACTION NETS $64,860 DURING OCTOBER

Decrease From 1926 Period
Attributed to Decline in Operating Revenues.

UTILITY STOCKS STRONG

By F. W. PATTERSON.
Net income of Capital Traction Co. in October totaled $64,860.15, a decrease of $15,953.35 when compared with the net in the corresponding month in 1926. This is revealed by the report of operations just filed with the Public Utilities Commission.

The falling off may be attributed in a large measure to the decline in operating revenue, which totalled $379,333.68 as against $392,048.84 in October, 1926, due to a decline in revenue of $12,713.68, as against $12,608.00, due to a rise by a drop in revenue passengers carried, which fell off from 229,608 to 5,179.767.

Operating expenses and taxes in October totalled $260,922.43, compared with $226,805.35 a year ago.

The statement for the first ten months of this year shows net income of $557,502.33 and represents a loss of $52,689.20 when compared with the corresponding ten months last year. This difference is due to the fall-off in revenue passengers, which has amounted to more than 2,000,000 in the first ten months this year, with total passengers transported reaching 8,453,933.

The operating revenues for the ten-month period this year were $3,695,647.78, compared with $3,816,774 in the corresponding period a year ago, while operating expenses were $2,580,247.89 and taxes $2,625,730.41 in the first ten months in 1926. Of this amount, taxes required $307,150.11 for the period under review, while the item last year stood at $323,680.20.

Utilities Strong on Exchange.

With the exception of a few sales in Columbia Sand & Gravel, all trading in yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange was in stocks and bonds of the local utilities, which were strong in price, but light in volume.

Washington Gas Light Co., series "A," sold at 107, the best price this year for the larger denominations, while $300 sold at 106% and the $100 changed hands at 107%. The 6s of series "B" advanced a half point to 107½ with 100 units traded.

Washington Railways & Electric preferred led the stocks, and started at 90% picked up to 100 even with the price of closing sale last week. There was no change in the bid for the company's 6s, which closed at 97 1/2.

Marked up stock was offered. Potomac Electric Power Co. preferred started unchanged at 106%, but parted with a 1/4 on the closing sale of an odd lot which moved at 106%, while the 6 per cent preferred was held at 111 1/2. The Sand & Gravel preferred was strong and sold in lots at 103.

B. & O. Revenue Decreases.

Operating results of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for October and the ten months ended October 31 were less satisfactory than in the corresponding period in 1926, according to statement made public yesterday. The carrier fared slightly worse than it did in September, but the shoving is no more unfavorable than those of other systems operating in the territory served by the B. & O.

Operating revenues of the company showed a comparative loss of $2,427,130 for October and $3,685,302 for the ten-month period. Expenses were cut $1,370,370, but the company still lost $1,286,000 for the ten-month period. Including the company to reduce the loss in October, revenue from railway operations to $1,245,760 and $2,399,302 respectively.

After adjustment the shrinkage in net railway operating income was $1,016,000 to $4,597,950 in October and $2,288,707 to $40,902,364 for the ten-month period.

Reserve Investments Increase.

Increases for the week ended November 23 of $10,000,000 in investments, $42,000,000 in holdings from the Federal Reserve Banks, as of $24,000,000 in time deposits, were reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board for the 659 reporting member banks in leading cities. There were declines of $50,000,000 in net demand deposits and $49,000,000 in time deposits.

Loans on stocks and bonds, including United States Government securities, were $23,000,000 below the previous week's total, the principal changes including declines of $20,000,000 in the New York district and $14,000,000 in the Atlanta district, and $9,000,000 in the Boston district, while increases were reported in Cleveland and Chicago districts. "All other" loans and discounts increased $33,000,000. Holdings of United States securities increased $26,000,000, while those in the New York district and $17,000,000 above at all reporting members.

Net demand deposits increased $36,000,000 to $13,727,493,000. Time deposits increased $24,000,000, increases of $17,000,000 in the Philadelphia district and $15,000,000 in the New York, Boston, and Atlanta districts, and smaller increases in some of the other districts being partly offset by a reduction of $16,000,000 in the Cleveland district. Government deposits were $24,000,000 less than a week ago, all districts showing a decline in this item.

Borrowings from the Federal Reserve Banks were $42,000,000 above the November 16 total, the principal changes including increases in the Boston, Chicago and San Francisco districts and a reduction of $13,000,000 in the Cleveland district.

The monthly meeting and dinner of the Baltimore Women's Club of Washington was held last night at the St. Marks Club with more than twenty members and many guests present. As this was the opening of the season, the dinner was given with the evening program over to entertainment. Miss Lois A. White, of the Federal-American National Bank, president of the club, presided.

Among the guests were Miss Marie Burman, Miss Boulton Colman, Lavinia Gray and Miss Margaret Buckley, American Security & Trust Co.; Miss Anna E. White, Federal-American National; Mrs. Helen V. Reed, Burk & Stewart, Fall Church, and Mrs. John S. Church, Va.; Miss Lula T. Carey, Potomac Savings Bank; Miss Catherine C. Barrett, Miss Harriet L. Potter, Second National Bank; Miss Edith M. Whiston, of the Publ.; Service Commission, Alexandria, Va.; Miss Betty C. Moran, Security Savings & Commercial, and Mrs. Arnold L. Engel, Commercial National Bank.

Announcement was made that the annual Christmas party of the club will be held on December 19, and the program will be given by the hands of a committee of which Miss Ellen Crawford, of the American Security & Trust Co., is chairman.

ABANDONING LUMP SUM APPROPRIATION FAVORED BY PHIPPS

Unfair to Capital, He Holds; Would Return to Definite Fiscal Ratio.

TO PRESS FOR CHANGE IN COMING CONGRESS

Joins Views of Representative Zihlman That U. S. Pay at Least 60-40.

To the growing list of those who think the time has come for a more equitable fiscal relationship between the Federal Government and the District Government was added yesterday Senator L. C. Phipps, of Colorado.

Senator Phipps, who is chairman of the Senate subcommittee in charge of District appropriations, said on his arrival here yesterday that he was strongly in favor of returning to the old system, whereby Federal Government paid a definite proportion of the total expenses of running the Capital.

Will Air Views in Committee.

The Colorado senator said that he would air his views on the question when the annual appropriation bill comes up at the forthcoming session of Congress, and would urge that a change be made.

The present system, under which the Federal Government pays a lump sum of $90,000,000 of the expenses, is manifestly unfair, Senator Phipps said. "I think," he said, "that the time has arrived when Congress should go back to the definite proportion method of providing for the District. With so much Government building to be done, 'the expenses of the city are bound to increase.'"

Already Urged by Zihlman.

Senator Phipps was the second influential member of Congress within two days to come out in favor of a change in the present plan. The day before Representative Frederick Zihlman, of Maryland, chairman of the House District committee, announced that he was in favor of resuming the proportional basis of paying expenses, and on a lead a 60-40 split.

Representative Zihlman said that he had every hope that other members of Congress would see as he did about the matter.

The 60-40 basis was abandoned four years ago in favor of the system whereby the Federal Government would pay a flat sum of $90,000,000 a year as its share. Before that the Federal Government and the District government had shared the expenses of the city on a 50-50 basis.

Machinist Faces Jury On 2 Assault Charges

Joseph A. Vitale, a machinist, was placed on trial yesterday in Criminal Court before Justice Siddons on two indictments charging assaults with a deadly weapon. The accused was charged with having attacked his wife, Mrs. Ruth Vitale at a beauty parlor at 908 Fourteenth street northwest on May 4 and he is also alleged to have attacked Harry A. Negan, a clothing salesman, at same place. A mail pole, a knife and a blackjack were used, according to the prosecution.

This case has been on trial before a mistrial was declared after Rosario Lombardo, a barber, and brother-in-law of Vitale, was accused of having approached a juon. Lombardo was adjudged in contempt and sentenced to serve 45 days in jail. He appealed and the case is still pending. Assistant District Attorney John Flinn appears for the Government while Attorney Percy H. Marshall appears for the defendant. The assault cases will go to the jury today.

Two Youths Plead Guilty in Robbery

Elmer Rife, 16 years old, of Takoma Park, and Edward Davis, 22 years old, of Rockville, Md., yesterday pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Robert B. Peter in the circuit court at Rockville, Md., at an indictment charging them with assault and robbery. Sentence was deferred.

The youths admitted robbing Edwin W. Williams, an employee of Peerless Motor Co., May 3, of $3 and his automobile near White Oak, Md., at the point of a pistol. Williams was bound and gagged and placed in a cornfield. The young men took a week's trip to Indiana. They were arrested on their return, when Rife reported the affair to his father, who turned him over to the police.

Douglas, 31 years old, of Stanton, Ill., and Miss Zeila K. Moore, 20 years old, of Washington; Samuel M. Johnson, 46 years old, and Miss Gertrude J. Smith, 37 years old, both of Baltimore; Howard Thomas Franklin, 23 years old, and Miss Jane F. Duff, 21 years old, both of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Lester L. Lindsley, 25 years old, and Miss India Kristen Chapman, 22 years old, both of Washington; James M. Daffan, 24 years old, and Miss Eugenia Blaisdell, 21 years old, both of Fredericksburg, Va.; James W. Young, 23 years old, of Alexandria, Va., and Miss Violette C. Carter, 18 years old, of Washington.

Wife Charges Cruelty.

Cruelty and drunkenness are charged against James Trimble, Jr., mortgage loan broker, 927 Fifteenth street northeast, in a petition for limited divorce filed yesterday by Emily Trimble. Mrs. Ruth A. Trimble, 1820 Glyndale street northwest, through Attorney Walter C. Balderston. They were married October 30, 1920, and have two children.

Terminal Disclaims Injury Responsibility

The Washington Terminal Co., which was sued for $75,000 damages for alleged personal injury to Thomas M. Holt on November 1, disclaimed responsibility for his injuries yesterday in the plea filed in Circuit Court by Attorneys Hamilton & Hamilton.

Holt charged that he had been thrown by a neck-hitch chair across an archway at the Union Station at night. The terminal company says that this archway is always barred to the public and is opened only to the President of the United States and foreign dignitaries and if any other person is injured therein it is his own fault.

15-YEAR-OLD GIRL WIFE SWallows POISON DOSE

Mrs. Reatha Phillips Says Mate Threatened to Leave Her After Quarrel.

RECOVERING AT HOSPITAL

A child wife, 15 years old, yesterday swallowed poison after her husband, according to her story, threatened to leave her following her staying out until Sunday night with "girl friends" with whom she had gone to a moving-picture show.

The wife, Mrs. Reatha Phillips, of 240 Twenty-second street northeast, is in Casualty Hospital, recovering from the effects of the poison, and begging that her husband bring her some tea leaves. In the meantime her husband, Lester Phillips, 23 years old, is driving his taxicab about the streets of Washington.

Sunday night, according to the story related by Mrs. Phillips on her bed at the hospital, she went out to a moving-picture show with her husband and his parents, Mr. and Mr. James O. Smith, at the Twenty-second street address, and when she returned home late Sunday night she found the door of the room occupied by her and her husband locked.

The child wife sobbed out that from that time until early yesterday morning she and her husband had quarreled, and that about noon yesterday he grew impatient and said that he was going to find a room to himself and leave her alone for two weeks.

After this declaration by her husband, the girl says that she rushed downstairs from their room, seeking a bottle of poison which she knew was on the shelf in the medicine cabinet, and was drinking it when her mother knocked the bottle from her hand, she asserted. Her mother then took her to Casualty Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Lawrence Murphy, who pronounced her condition not serious.

Tires Valued at $450 Stolen From Store

A thief broke into the store of Leeth Bros., 1307 L street northwest, yesterday morning, rolling out heavy sizes of tires and valued at $450. Ashley Louis Leeth, manager, reported to the police yesterday.

The store was broken into late in October, when burglars stole five tires.

An attempt to rob the store was made on November 25, but battered locks failed to yield.

OVER HERE—OVER THERE—

THE SITUATION IN FLANDERS WAS RAPIDLY GROWING MORE PRECARIOUS FOR LUEDENDORFF. THE BRITISH, WHO HAD CHECKED THE TREMENDOUS WEIGHT OF THE ENEMY'S ASSAULTS ON THE CHANNEL PORTS, REINFORCED BY FRENCH RESERVES, WITH DEFANT STUBBORNNESS LUEDENDORFF PERSISTED IN TRYING TO BREAK THROUGH.

ON APRIL 26, 27 AND 28 THE GERMANS ENGAGED THE FRENCH AND BRITISH IN NUMEROUS SHORT-LIVED ATTACKS THAT WERE DESIGNATED TO SHIELD THE PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR THE FINAL SMASHING DRIVE.

ON THE MORNING OF APRIL 29, 1918, ON A 15 MILE FRONT, RUNNING FROM ZILLEBEKE TO METZIEREN, THE GERMANS LAUNCHED A TERRIFIC BARRAGE THAT ROCKED THE COUNTRYSIDE. EVERY FIELD PIECE AT THE GERMAN COMMAND WENT INTO ACTION.

OVER THEY CAME! TEN FRESH GERMAN DIVISIONS! WAVE AFTER WAVE FELL BEFORE THE FIRE OF THE ALLIED MACHINE GUNS AND ARTILLERY. ATTACK AFTER ATTACK WAS SLASHED TO PIECES BEFORE THEY COULD GAIN MOMENTUM. THE GERMANS SUFFERED CASUALTIES AMOUNTING TO 40%

BY NIGHT THE GERMAN GUNS WERE SILENCED—A NIGHT OF STRANGE AND UNCANNY SILENCE AFTER THE STUPENDOUS TUMULT. THE CHANNEL PORTS HAD BEEN SAVED, BUT EVEN THEN THE GERMANS WERE NOT READY TO RELINQUISH THE OFFENSIVE.

Battling Physician Claims Self-Defense

Dr. Ralph M. LeComte, 1801 I street northwest, who is a codefendant in a suit for $100,000 damages against the Circuit Court by William J. Owen, 1601 Argonne place northwest, for an alleged assault and battery, filed a plea of self-defense yesterday through Attorney Roger J. Whiteford. Dr. William C. Sparks, the other defendant, also denied that he assaulted Owens.

Dr. LeComte says that on June 6 he was standing near Owens, who was seated in his automobile near Eighteenth and I streets northwest. Owens called him a vile name. Dr. LeComte says he then reached over and seized him by the neck and attempted to attack him. Dr. LeComte also says that he did no more than was necessary to protect himself.

W. C. T. U. LECTURES LESSONS IN SCIENCE, SCHOOL HEADS SAY

Board Replies to Complaints of Association Against Prohibition Amendment.

DECLARES ASSEMBLY AT CHURCH IS USUAL

Promises Prompt Action on Controversial Subjects in Class Work.

Conditions under which the Women's Christian Temperance Union was allowed to conduct a course of lectures in the District schools, and policies of the Board of Education regarding a repetition of the incident, were outlined yesterday in the reply of a special committee of the board to complaints of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

The reply, framed by Charles F. Garst, president of the Board of Education, and Henry Gilligan, member, declared the board is "deeply sensible of its duty to investigate all complaints and to send a general answer to all such cases brought to its attention was promised by the board.

Lectures Held Scientific.

By extracts from minutes of meetings on November 2 and November 16, the committee cited action proposed by the board will be sought by administrative officials before lectures which may deem to be of sectarian or controversial or political character will be given to the public school children.

The reply contained statements of administrative officials, explaining that instruction upon the ill effects of the use of alcohol and narcotics is required in the schools as part of the regular curriculum, that lectures formerly have been given by W. C. T. U. workers, and that the talks in question "deal with the scientific aspects of the matter and have been reported by the administrative officers as being in no wise controversial or harmful."

Church Meetings Usual.

In answer to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment's assertion that they were persecuted in the lecture room, the letter stated the form of the "overcoming state" by Miss Anna C. Laws, "Princess of Dreams," by Miss Helen Hayes, and "Castie," by Mrs. Edith Odette Heidel. Each offering is in one act.
